Second Anniversary IAFIE-EUROPE Conference

Join us for the Second Annual Conference of IAFIE's EUROPE in Athens, Greece in June 22-24, 2017.

Mission Statement

This conference will mark IAFIE Europe's second annual gathering. It seeks to build on the success of our first European meeting in Breda, Holland, last year. We will mark the continuing growth of the intelligence studies academic field in Europe and will ask ourselves a number of central questions. Namely, what is the role of intelligence studies at a time of crisis in Europe? How is the crisis that is currently engulfing European political institutions, security attitudes and social values, changing the way we approach intelligence studies as an academic field? And what is the responsibility of intelligence-studies scholars at a time of widespread European crisis (migration, trafficking issues, EU membership, European defense, economics of security, populism)?

In keeping up with the theme established last year in Breda, we will continue to seek ways of formulating an approach to intelligence studies that goes beyond the traditional Anglosphere. As this will be IAFIE Europe's first-ever annual conference in the Balkan and Mediterranean region, we will welcome the participation of colleagues from the southern regions of Europe, but also from the countries of Central Europe, Eastern Europe including Russia, as well as from Scandinavia and the British Isles. Additionally, we want to hear from our colleagues in Africa, the Middle East, Canada and Australia. Finally, the outcome of the recent elections in the United States, and its potential impact on the American Intelligence Community and NATO, offer a timely opportunity to hear from our colleagues in the USA. With a multitude of panels and talks, this IAFIE Europe conference promises to be an enormous success. This important scholarly gathering will bring us closer to providing answers to many critical questions that we currently face in intelligence studies field, and to promote the public understanding of our field, which is perhaps more important now than ever before.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Conference theme is:

"INTELLIGENCE STUDIES IN A TIME OF EUROPEAN CRISIS"

The Panels are:

- Intelligence Studies in the former Eastern Bloc
- Intelligence education in Europe
- Intelligence reform in Europe
- Security challenges in Europe

Please, send a title of your paper and an abstract to: John M. Nomikos (chairman event) at: rieasinfo@gmail.com

The annual conference promises to be an outstanding event highlighting the very latest and best research in intelligence education. Look forward to seeing you in Athens, Greece!

Two-day conference with 3 key-note speakers and no less than 10 workshops, where presentations will be given on both new developments in intelligence and (new) ways of teaching intelligence. Further information about details of the program as well as location of the conference place can be expected in the coming weeks.

As this will be IAFIE's EUROPE second annual conference outside the Western Hemisphere, the international turn out, not only from Europe, but also from Africa,

Middle East, USA, Canada, Russia, Asia and Oceania, is expected to be great. It is therefore recommended to register at the earliest opportunity. For the moment save the date in our agendas and take notice that there will also be an interesting partner program during the two days of the conference.
